RENTERS INSURANCE ADDENDUM

Page____ of Agreement

ResidentU1a & ResidentU1b ((List all Residents who will sign this Addendum) premises located at	des: currence;
premises located at 123 Anystreet, CA, CA	ole) U1 des:
Resident is required to maintain renters insurance throughout the duration of the tenancy that include (2) The premises listed above must be listed as the location of resident insured; (3) Owner is listed as a Certificate Holder (4) Notification that the carrier must provide 30 days' notice of cancellation, non-renewal, or material change Owner/Agent Resident must provide proof of such insurance to the Owner/Agent within 30 days of the inception of the tena comply with this requirement is a material violation of the Rental/Lease Agreement. Resident is encouraged, but not required to obtain renters insurance. Insurance Facts for Residents 1. Generally, except under special circumstances, the OWNER IS NOT legally responsible for loss to the re property, possessions or personal liability, and OWNER'S INSURANCE WILL NOT COVER such losses 2. If damages or injury to owner's property is caused by resident, resident's guest(s) or child (children), the company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident(s) payments made under owner's possible legally responsible for: a. Your babysitter injures herself in your unit. b. Your defective electrical extension cord starts a fire which causes damage to the building and your poor the personal property of others. c. A friend, or your handyman, is injured while helping you slide out your refrigerator so you can clean be d. While fixing your television set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you have a Your locked car is broken into and your personal property, and that of a friend, is stolen. f. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property.	des: currence;
Resident is required to maintain renters insurance throughout the duration of the tenancy that included to concept the company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident's guest(s) or child (children), the company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident's purpose the beld legally responsible for: a. Your defective electrical extension set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you hare. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property. 4. If you desire to protect yourself and your property against loss, damage, or liability, the owner strongly recover.	currence;
Resident is required to maintain renters insurance throughout the duration of the tenancy that included the coverage of at least $\ in personal liability (bodily injury and property damage) for each occ (2) The premises listed above must be listed as the location of resident insured; (3) Owner is listed as a Certificate Holder (4) Notification that the carrier must provide 30 days' notice of cancellation, non-renewal, or material change Owner/Agent with the carrier must provide 30 days' notice of cancellation, non-renewal, or material change Owner/Agent with in 30 days of the inception of the tena comply with this requirement is a material violation of the Rental/Lease Agreement. Resident is encouraged, but not required to obtain renters insurance. Insurance Facts for Residents 1. Generally, except under special circumstances, the OWNER IS NOT legally responsible for loss to the reproperty, possessions or personal liability, and OWNER'S INSURANCE WILL NOT COVER such losses 2. If damages or injury to owner's property is caused by resident, resident's guest(s) or child (children), the company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident(s) payments made under owner's possible held legally responsible for: a. Your both the prosporable for: a. Your both the prosporable for: a. Your defective electrical extension cord starts a fire which causes damage to the building and your por the personal property of others. c. A friend, or your handyman, is injured while helping you slide out your refrigerator so you can clean be d. While fixing your television set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you have. Your locked car is broken into and your personal property, and that of a friend, is stolen. f. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property.	currence;
 (1) Coverage of at least $	currence;
 (2) The premises listed above must be listed as the location of resident insured; (3) Owner is listed as a Certificate Holder (4) Notification that the carrier must provide 30 days' notice of cancellation, non-renewal, or material change Owner/Agent Resident must provide proof of such insurance to the Owner/Agent within 30 days of the inception of the tena comply with this requirement is a material violation of the Rental/Lease Agreement. Resident is encouraged, but not required to obtain renters insurance. Insurance Facts for Residents 1. Generally, except under special circumstances, the OWNER IS NOT legally responsible for loss to the reproperty, possessions or personal liability, and OWNER'S INSURANCE WILL NOT COVER such losses 2. If damages or injury to owner's property is caused by resident, resident's guest(s) or child (children), the company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident(s) payments made under owner's possible held legally responsible for: a. Your babysitter injures herself in your unit. b. Your defective electrical extension cord starts a fire which causes damage to the building and your peror the personal property of others. c. A friend, or your handyman, is injured while helping you slide out your refrigerator so you can clean be d. While fixing your television set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you have. Your locked car is broken into and your personal property, and that of a friend, is stolen. f. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property. 4. If you desire to protect yourself and your property against loss, damage, or liability, the owner strongly reserved.
Resident is encouraged, but not required to obtain renters insurance. Insurance Facts for Residents 1. Generally, except under special circumstances, the OWNER IS NOT legally responsible for loss to the reproperty, possessions or personal liability, and OWNER'S INSURANCE WILL NOT COVER such losses 2. If damages or injury to owner's property is caused by resident, resident's guest(s) or child (children), the company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident(s) payments made under owner's po 3. Following is a non-inclusive list of examples of possible costly misfortunes that, except for special circums be held legally responsible for: a. Your babysitter injures herself in your unit. b. Your defective electrical extension cord starts a fire which causes damage to the building and your peror the personal property of others. c. A friend, or your handyman, is injured while helping you slide out your refrigerator so you can clean be d. While fixing your television set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you have. Your locked car is broken into and your personal property, and that of a friend, is stolen. f. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property. 4. If you desire to protect yourself and your property against loss, damage, or liability, the owner strongly recommendation.	ancy. Failure to Insurance Facts for Residents Generally, except under special circumstances, the OWNER IS NOT legally responsible for loss to the reproperty, possessions or personal liability, and OWNER'S INSURANCE WILL NOT COVER such losses If damages or injury to owner's property is caused by resident, resident's guest(s) or child (children), the company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident(s) payments made under owner's possible legally responsible for: Your babysitter injures herself in your unit. Your defective electrical extension cord starts a fire which causes damage to the building and your personal property of others. A friend, or your handyman, is injured while helping you slide out your refrigerator so you can clean be d. While fixing your television set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you have. Your locked car is broken into and your personal property, and that of a friend, is stolen. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property. If you desire to protect yourself and your property against loss, damage, or liability, the owner strongly red Generally, except under special circumstances, the OWNER IS NOT legally responsible for loss to the reproperty, possessions or personal liability, and OWNER'S INSURANCE WILL NOT COVER such losses If damages or injury to owner's property is caused by resident, resident's guest(s) or child (children), the company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident(s) payments made under owner's po Following is a non-inclusive list of examples of possible costly misfortunes that, except for special circums be held legally responsible for: Your babysitter injures herself in your unit. Your defective electrical extension cord starts a fire which causes damage to the building and your peror the personal property of others. A friend, or your handyman, is injured while helping you slide out your refrigerator so you can clean be d. While fixing your television set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you have. Your locked car is broken into and your personal property, and that of a friend, is stolen. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property. If you desire to protect yourself and your property against loss, damage, or liability, the owner strongly red
 If damages or injury to owner's property is caused by resident, resident's guest(s) or child (children), the company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident(s) payments made under owner's possible is a non-inclusive list of examples of possible costly misfortunes that, except for special circums be held legally responsible for: Your babysitter injures herself in your unit. Your defective electrical extension cord starts a fire which causes damage to the building and your peror the personal property of others. A friend, or your handyman, is injured while helping you slide out your refrigerator so you can clean be d. While fixing your television set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you have. Your locked car is broken into and your personal property, and that of a friend, is stolen. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property. If you desire to protect yourself and your property against loss, damage, or liability, the owner strongly red company may have the right to attempt to recover from the resident(s) payments made under owner's possible content of the payments made under owner's possible soft of the payments of the payments made under owner's possible for: a. Your babysitter injures herself in your unit. b. Your defective electrical extension cord starts a fire which causes damage to the building and your poor the personal property of others. c. A friend, or your handyman, is injured while helping you slide out your refrigerator so you can clean be d. While fixing your television set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you have. Your locked car is broken into and your personal property, and that of a friend, is stolen. f. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property. If you desire to protect yourself and your property against loss, damage, or liability, the owner strongly red be held legally responsible for: a. Your babysitter injures herself in your unit. b. Your defective electrical extension cord starts a fire which causes damage to the building and your peror the personal property of others. c. A friend, or your handyman, is injured while helping you slide out your refrigerator so you can clean be d. While fixing your television set, a handyman hired by you is injured when he slips on the floor you have. Your locked car is broken into and your personal property, and that of a friend, is stolen. f. A burglar breaks your front door lock and steals your valuables or personal property. 4. If you desire to protect yourself and your property against loss, damage, or liability, the owner strongly red personal property and perils.
The cost is reasonable considering the peace of mind, the protection, and the financial recovery of loss the adequately protected by insurance.	hat you get if you ar
Date Resident Resident Resident Resident Resident Resident	dentU1b
Date Resident Date Resident
Date Owner/Agent PropOwn/Agent Name

California Apartment Association Approved Form www.caanet.org

Form 12.0-MF – Revised 1/10 - ©2010 – All Rights Reserved Page 1 of 1

Unauthorized Reproduction of Blank Forms is Illegal.

